Calvert Named General Manager of The Golf Club at South River

EDGEWATER, Md. (May 30, 2008) – Christopher L. Calvert, an experienced manager of some of the most respected private clubs in the U.S., including clubs in Pinehurst, N.C. and Naples, Fla., has been named general manager of The Golf Club at South River, Edgewater, Md. as it undergoes plans to convert to a private club.

Calvert joins The Golf Club at South River from The Dominion Club & Hunting Hawk Golf Club, where since 2001 he was general manager and chief operations officer for the private country club in Glen Allen, Va.

Prior to The Dominion Club, Calvert held management positions with Fiddler's Creek Club & Spa, Marco Beach Ocean Resort and the Tarpon Yacht Club in Naples, Fla. Previously, Calvert was affiliated with Pinehurst National Golf Club in Pinehurst, N.C., where he managed all aspects of the golf course, clubhouse and private cottages and villas as general manager, chief operations manager and property manager.

Calvert started his hospitality career in 1985 with Holiday Inn and Crowne Plaza in Tampa, Fla.

In addition to financial, operations and sales management, Calvert has worked with notable golf course architects including Tom Fazio, Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Tom Watson.

The Golf Club at South River is in the midst of a conversion to a fully private membership club, with a "pure golf" focus. Located south of Annapolis along the South River Colony community in Edgewater, Md., The Golf Club at South River recently held an invitation-only Founder Day event where the Club began selling memberships and accepting membership deposits.

The club facilities currently include an 18-hole golf course, a golf practice area including a practice range and putting green, and a clubhouse with a snack bar and lounge, meeting room, men's and women's restroom and changing rooms, golf shop, administrative offices and patio/deck areas. Renovations to the clubhouse and golf facility will take place as members join the club.

A limited number of daily fee golfers will be able to play until there are 350 members, at which time it will convert to a fully private golf club. During this conversion period, members will enjoy preferred tee times.
