MEMBERSHIP DIRECTOR ANNOUNCED AT THE GOLF CLUB AT SOUTH RIVER

EDGEWATER, Md. (August 12, 2008) - It is with great enthusiasm that The Golf Club at South River in Edgewater, Maryland introduces Donna Loftin as membership director. The 18-hole golf facility recently announced its plans for conversion from a public course to a private club.

She brings more than sixteen years of experience in private club membership sales, marketing and member retention. Her background includes the skills necessary for both start-up and conversion development in clubs such as Deering Bay of Coral Gables, Florida and Tiburon Golf Club in Naples, Florida. Loftin has a strong belief in the private club philosophy and the lifelong relationships that are built through the game of golf. Loftin relocated from her home state of North Carolina to Maryland to assist with the conversion.

As a seasoned professional, she will work closely with the management team to reach the membership goals and assist in keeping The Brick Companies' vision of privatization.
